

Opening the Editor's Black Box: Insider Tips for Successful Submissions

by Dr Claire M. Cobley
Managing Director of ChemNanoMat

Host: Prof Liu Xiaogang

Fri, 28 June 2019 10:00 – 11:00 S8-03-14 Executive Classroom

About Dr Claire Cobley

Claire Cobley obtained her undergraduate degree in chemistry from Brown University, followed by a master's degree from the University of Washington, and a PhD from Washington University in St. Louis. She performed her PhD research on the synthesis and biomedical applications of noble metal nanostructures in the group of Professor Younan Xia. She went on to do postdoctoral work with Joachim Spatz at the University of Heidelberg and Max Planck Institute for Intelligent Systems before joining Wiley-VCH to work on Chemistry—A European Journal in February 2013 and then ChemNanoMat in September 2014. She is now the Managing Editor of ChemNanoMat.

Abstract

In this talk, ChemNanoMat Managing Editor Claire M. Cobley will discuss publishing articles in Wiley chemistry journals from an editor's point of view. She will start with important factors to think about before you submit and take you through the process step-by-step. Along the way, she will share what editors are looking for in manuscripts, how you can present your work in the best possible light, and which common errors should be avoided.

Click here for other NUS Chemistry events